

The Center for Self Leadership
IFS Training Scholarship Policy and Application Form
For Training Programs Beginning on October 1, 2017 or Later

The Center for Self Leadership (CSL) is committed to making IFS trainings accessible and affordable to all qualified people. To that end, CSL has a long history of providing generous scholarships to IFS training participants in CSL-organized Level 1, 2, and 3 training programs based on individual economic need. CSL is also committed to expanding diversity and broadening inclusion within the IFS community and among participants in IFS trainings. CSL offers this new IFS Training Scholarship Policy as a holistic approach to expanding training affordability for those with economic challenges and additional support for traditionally underrepresented populations, including people of color, people from faith-based communities, the LGBTQ community, as well as full-time graduate and undergraduate students. In addition, this policy provides support for individuals whose work is in service to marginalized communities, faith-based communities, international relief, and ecological and planetary health.

IFS training scholarships are available as listed below, and CSL invites you to apply for scholarship support on the basis of financial need, student status, diversity and inclusion, or any combination of these categories:

Economic need scholarship: CSL will continue to consider scholarships applications based on economic need of an individual applicant. This process considers the applicant's personal financial profile.

Full-time student scholarship: CSL may provide a tuition reduction for full-time graduate students and full-time undergraduate students.

Racial/LGBTQ scholarship: CSL may provide a tuition reduction for people who are racially underrepresented or in the LGBTQ community.

World service scholarship: CSL may provide a tuition reduction for people whose work serves minority and marginalized communities, poverty-stricken environments, faith-based communities, victim-support and advocacy, veterans, internationally marginalized communities, or environmental/global health services.

Applicants may receive as much as a 60% tuition scholarship award. While scholarships are available, CSL will continue to use economic need as its primary criterion for awarding financial support. As such, we ask that those members of our community who have the financial means forego the above opportunities so that we can provide as much financial support as possible to those in the greatest need.

These scholarships are available for IFS training programs organized by The Center for Self Leadership that take place in North America. They are not available for other trainings, or for other IFS events, including workshops, the IFS annual conference, IFS online webinar events, or any other non-training events. These scholarships are not available for those enrolled in The Center for Self Leadership's Organizational Training Programs.

TO APPLY FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

1. Please make sure to read all scholarship information at the beginning of this document.
2. It's best to submit your scholarship application along with your program application because we review scholarship applications shortly after someone is accepted into a training.
3. Scholarship applications cannot be accepted after a training has begun.
4. If you must submit your scholarship application after your program application (but before the training starts), it's best to submit the scholarship application at least 6 weeks before your training starts. Scholarship applications submitted closer to the start of the training can still be reviewed, but because it takes time to do this, it may not be possible to reply to you immediately or before your training begins.

BILLING AND SCHOLARSHIPS

Your program deposit will be charged when you are accepted into the training, and all scholarship awards are deducted from the tuition balance that remains after the program deposit is paid. If you withdraw from the training, your deposit will be refunded according to the withdrawal/refund policy listed on your training's program application. Of course, if you are not accepted into the training, no deposit will be charged.
